

Image by: Jocie

This picture has really great composition and the fact that it is in black and white adds to the overall image. The shadows caused by the sun on the fence looks really nice.

Photo by Ming:

The way that you focused the camera on the subject and blurred the background really made it stand out. The depth is shown really well here.

Photo by: Ady

I love the way that you set up this picture. The way the sun is shining right through the middle looks really cool.

Photo by: Aysia

I love this picture with all my heart. The composition and way the picture is set up is really mesmerizing. The rule of thirds, the shadows from the trees and the person, and the bright sun in the background make the picture intriguing. The colors and value make the image pop.