This picture is really cool and unique. I love the lighting.

Although this image is sort of blurry, the dark sky clashes with the light ground and it looks super cool. I love how there is value throughout the hills showing the shadows.

This image turned blurry when I copied it over, but the colors are really neat in this. I love how they contrast and how you used the rule of thirds for the horizon.

The colors and different in light in this image adds to the texture. Really neat photo! Although next time, I would try adjusting so the horizon is on the rule of thirds.
